For Immediate Release:

Graham-Field Introduces the Lumex® AltaDyne™ XT Alternating Pressure/Low Air Loss Mattress System

August 14, 2006 • Atlanta, GA:

Graham-Field Health Products is pleased to introduce the AltaDyne™ XT Alternating Pressure/Low Air Loss Mattress System, shown here. This versatile replacement mattress system provides both low air loss and alternating pressure therapy, with pressure and alternating cycle time adjustable from five to twenty minutes in five-minute increments, and six options for mattress pressure. The AltaDyne™ XT also comes with a host of practical safety features, including vapor-permeable, fluid resistant cover; AutoFirm function to inflate mattress quickly; emergency CPR quick-disconnect for quick deflation; patented cell-in-cell design to prevent bottoming out in case of power failure; easy-to-use digital controller with panel lock function to prevent persons other than caregivers from changing settings; and visible and audible alarms. Available in 34" width with 396 lb. weight capacity and 42" width with 800 lb. weight capacity. Meets requirements of HCPCS Code E0277.

The outstanding line of Lumex® pressure management products includes alternating pressure / low air loss mattresses; mattress overlays; wheelchair cushions; and foam overlays, cushions, and positioning products.
