For Immediate Release:
Executive Leadership Change at Graham-Field

August 25, 2010 • Atlanta, GA:

GF Health Products, Inc. (“Graham-Field”) is pleased to announce the promotion of Ken Spett to the position of President and Chief Operating Officer.

Spett’s diverse background in the healthcare industry includes a variety of senior executive, sales, and marketing positions spanning more than 30 years. His global experience and in-depth industry knowledge are among Graham-Field’s most valuable assets. He began his career with Graham-Field in 1983 as Vice President of Operations for Labtron Scientific Corporation, then became Corporate Vice President of Marketing when Labtron and Graham-Field merged. He later served Graham-Field as Vice President of its Medical/Surgical Division, Senior Vice President, and most recently, Executive Vice President, where he was responsible for the Medical/Surgical, Homecare, Long Term Care, Consumer, and International Strategic Business Units, as well as Global Operations and Marketing.

Beatrice Scherer will continue, in her role as CEO, to oversee administration and strategic planning, while Spett will focus on operation and sales. Together Scherer and Spett will move forward to build on Graham-Field’s winning framework: the manufacture and distribution of well-known, name-brand healthcare products that symbolize quality and value.
